

Silver and Gold for Anderson Mraz Design

At the 2009 Inland Northwest ADDY® Awards – the industry’s largest and most representative competition for creative excellence – Anderson Mraz Design was honored in six different categories with two gold awards, six silvers, and an honorable mention.

The annual competition, administered locally by the Spokane Advertising Federation, is the first level of a three-tiered national competition conducted annually by the American Advertising Federation (AAF), its goal to recognize and reward distinction in the art of advertising and design. All winners are automatically forwarded to the District XI ADDY® Awards held in April.

The broad range of projects recognized at this year’s event neatly encapsulates AMD’s unique expertise: annual reports, advertising campaigns, corporate identities, print collateral, and environmental graphic design.

“These awards are more than simply a recognition of our group’s creative achievements,” said CK Anderson, principal and creative director at AMD. “They represent the vision and innovation of each of our clients – and suggest a successful collaboration between a project’s intent and its possibilities.”

Formed in 1988, Anderson Mraz Design is a Spokane, Washington-based marketing and communications design group operating in local, regional, and national markets. The firm offers expertise in all areas of branding across a diverse and widespread client base, with services that include consulting, planning, and strategic development, as well as deliverables that range from corporate identity to advertising, from website development to environmental graphic design.
